

U.S. Retaliates, Ousts 2 Syrians

WASHINGTON (AP)—Syria's fiery ambassador, Dr. Farid Zeineddine, and another Syrian Embassy official, were ousted from their posts by the United States Wednesday.

The State Department's action in labeling them "persona non grata"—unwelcome—was in frank retaliation for Syria's expulsion of three American diplomats in Damascus and for Syrian accusations of a U.S. plot.

Relations worsened. It does not spell a break in diplomatic relations. But it does mean that United States-Syria relations, worsening over the past two years, are at a new low point. The state of affairs was emphasized by a State Department announcement that the American ambassador to Syria, James S. Moore Jr., "is not returning to Syria." Moore came home two weeks ago for reassignment.

Zeineddine, as it happened, was in Damascus when he was labeled unwelcome. Also U.N. Delegate Zeineddine also is Syria's chief delegate to the United Nations. This means he may come back to the United States as U.N. delegates unless the United States specifically demands his ouster from that post also.

The other unwelcome official, Dr. Yassin Zakaria, second secre-

2. A protest that the ouster of the three Americans Tuesday from Damascus was "totally unwarranted."

3. A protest that an American diplomatic courier was subjected to interference at the Syrian border two days ago.

The Syrians contended the three Americans they kicked out were involved in a plot to unseat the government.

Three Ousted

The three were Howard Stone, second secretary of Van Nuss, Calif.; Francis Jett, vice consul, of Boston and Washington, D.C.; and Col. Robert W. Molloy, military attaché.

State Department press chief Lincoln White said the courier who suffered interference was Jerry Turner, of Columbus, Ohio.

White said Turner was stopped at the Syrian border on the morning of Aug. 12, his car searched, his diplomatic passport seized, and his diplomatic pouch taken away from him. White said Turner had grabbed the pouch to prevent his searches from opening it and looking at documents which are classified as secret. Diplomatic practice generally cloaks such pouches with immunity from search and seizure.

Union Organizer Gets His Hearing But It Boomerangs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former union organizer who had demanded to be heard by the Senate rackets probes got his wish Wednesday. It boomeranged into charges he once took a bribe from an employer.

He also was hit with an affidavit saying he had once inquired how much it would be worth to some employers if he refrained from importing some labor goons muscle men and trigger men.

The witness, Marshall M. Miller of New York, former administrative assistant and organizer in the Upholsterers International Union, denied the charges bitterly.

He protested that the Rackets Investigating Committee was giving him a dirty deal by springing new accusations, when he had come here to answer old ones.

Miller's case, which jumped back and forth between New York and western Michigan, came up after the committee had spent several more hours on the operation of Teamsters Union affairs in New York City.

In the Teamsters phase, the committee took testimony that a clerk, a carpenter and a drunk in a bar were pressed into service as union officials long enough to help elect a pal of James R. Hoffa's as head of the Teamster council in New York City.

Miller's case, developed in a rather odd way.

On Aug. 2, the committee heard from John McNiff, secretary of the Assn. of Catholic Trade Unionists, that Miller had been fired from a union job for making under-the-table deals with employers to the detriment of the union members he was supposed to represent.

The next day Miller was fired from his job as a consultant to the New York State Legislative Committee on Labor and Industrial Conditions. He demanded to be allowed to tell his denial to the U. S. Senate committee, and it agreed to hear him.

Then the committee placed in evidence:

41 Americans Ignore Warning, Go To China

MOSCOW (AP)—Forty-one young Americans departed for Communist China Wednesday despite a stern warning by the United States government not to go.

All but one left aboard a Trans-Siberian express train, which will travel six days in Soviet territory before crossing the line into China.

A leader of the group, Jake Rosen of New York, said he would go to Kiev first, where he would attend another Communist-sponsored youth meeting, and then travel to Peiping.

As the train pulled out of Yaroslavl Station, Dan O'Connell of Chicago said, "We have six days aboard before we reach the Red Chinese border and there are some here who may change their minds and get off."

The U. S. State Department warned them Tuesday their passports would be taken away when they returned to the United States from Red China. It said the group was aiding Communist

DROPPED FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—Dan O'Connell, 24, who cabled his parents from Moscow that he is going to Communist China after the Youth Festival in Moscow, has been dropped from membership and as secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Chicago. propaganda. The U.S. government does not recognize the Peiping government and considers itself in a "quasi state of war" with Communist China. Undersecretary Christian Herter said.

Anxious Meeting

A group of 46 held an anxious 21-hour meeting early in the day to discuss the warning. Forty-one decided to make the trip anyway. Two withdrew. Two others said they might try later to catch up by plane.

Several of the youths appeared at the station still smarting from the strong language of Herter's letter. Some reacted defiantly. Others said it was their right as Americans to travel wherever they liked.

Throw Flowers

A crowd of 1,000 Russians gathered around as the train prepared to leave. Dozens of bunches of flowers were thrown into the windows of the American compartments.

A rag-tag Russian band blared out one tune after another as the crowd shouted "peace" and "friendship." Komsomolskaya Pravda, newspaper of the Soviet Young Communist League, accused the United States of using "undemocratic methods, intimidation and outright threats" in trying to stop the journey.

Most of the group en route to Peiping are students or recent students. Many are in their 20s. They come from almost all sections of the United States, but there is a heavy concentration from the metropolitan areas of the East and West Coasts.

All went to Moscow to attend the World Youth Festival, a Communist-sponsored event billed as nonpolitical. Many went to take advantage of the cut-rate travel and lodging fees offered by the Soviet government.

Just before the festival wound up, Communist China offered to give 15 of the Americans a free trip to China with all living expenses paid. Then it offered to take any other Americans who would pay a token $100 for their return trip.

Exchange Student On Ship Dies Of Asiatic Flu

NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-year-old Greek boy, one of 200 foreign exchange students who became ill en route here aboard ship, died late Wednesday in Roosevelt Hospital. An autopsy report said the probable cause was Asiatic flu.

Dr. Benjamin M. Vance, acting chief city medical examiner, said the boy, Nicholas Memmos, died of "bronchial pneumonia, influenza type."

"As nearly as you can pinpoint anything," he said "you could consider it the Asiatic flu."

Dr. Vance, discussing the case after the autopsy announcement, said the current flu outbreak is "the same general type as hit the United States in 1918."

"It is always dangerous," he continued, "but we don't know if it will be a pest or a nuisance. More likely it will be a nuisance."

An estimated 20 million persons died in the world-wide flu epidemic of 1918-19.

About 200 students from 18 foreign countries, on their way to study in this country under an exchange program, were listed as having been stricken on the ship Arosa Sky with a mild influenza. The Arosa Sky docked here Tuesday.

By Wednesday, however, only 15 of the 200 who were ill were still laid up. The others were reported recovered and most of them were on their way to various destinations in the United States, where they will live with American families.

REP. GORDON TO UNDERGO SURGERY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Thomas S. Gordon (D-Ill.), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, arranged to enter a hospital Wednesday to undergo surgery to correct a circulatory ailment.

Gordon's office said the operation would be performed at the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., but provided no other details.

Fulbright Hits Dulles' Aswan Dam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) told the Senate Wednesday that, thanks to Secretary of State Dulles, "the Soviet toehold in Egypt has become a hammerlock."

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) promptly came to the defense of the administration.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, asserted that U. S. moves in Egypt and the Middle East were not to save Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser but to save the United Nations.

The GOP leader also questioned Fulbright's theme that American withdrawal of an offer to help finance the great Aswan Dam on the Nile River was not in the best interests of the United States.

Fulbright called the withdrawal an "ill-considered decision."

Fulbright said an examination he made of secret State Department documents, made available for a Senate investigation that never came off, convinced him the dam was a sound project.

He offered double-barreled reasons for saying the July 1956 withdrawal of the aid effort hurt the United States:

"First, the withdrawal of the aid offer was the direct cause of the seizure by Nasser of the Suez Canal. This action led, in turn, to the Israeli-United Kingdom-French attack, to the serious deterioration in our relations with leading allies, to the severe oil shortages in Europe, and to economic dislocations in other parts of the world."

"Second, withdrawal of the offer served to increase the influence of the Soviet Union. The Soviet toehold in Egypt has become a hammerlock on a country which otherwise might well have stayed relatively free from influence by the Communist orbit."

Knowland argued that problems in Egypt and the Mideast did not begin with the Eisenhower administration.

Body Of Woman Found High On Pike's Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Because "she couldn't see a mountain and not want to climb it," Mrs. Inestine Roberts is dead.

The 38-year-old woman's body was found Wednesday high on Pike's Peak—a 14,110-foot mountain she had climbed 14 times before and died of exposure.

Searchers found her body not far from where she was last seen Aug. 5.

The frail, white haired Mrs. Roberts conquered many of the nation's tallest mountains.

"She couldn't sit still," said Mrs. Margery Feldkirchner, one of Mrs. Roberts' four daughters.

"She couldn't see a mountain and not want to climb it."

Mrs. Roberts had made her home with Mrs. Feldkirchner in Colorado Springs for the past 10 years.

She left a week ago Saturday on her 15th hike alone to the top of Pike's Peak and back. She was last seen by another hiker two days later, on her way down, carrying a small sack of food.

BUILDS BOAT TOO BIG FOR DOOR—CUTS HOLE IN WALL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Bernard Carver opened a big hole in the wall of his home Wednesday. He had to remove the 21-foot cabin cruiser he'd built in his living room.

Carver, a do-it-yourself enthusiast who also built the ranch-style home, had been working on the cruiser since last February. It's a beauty—sleeps four, has a bathroom and kitchen facilities.

Carver estimated it cost him $700, not counting his labor. Boat experts figure it's worth about $4,000.

Humphrey Named Board Chairman Of Steel Company

PITTSBURGH (AP)—George M. Humphrey, industrialist, banker and former secretary of the Treasury, Wednesday was named board chairman of National Steel Corp., the nation's sixth largest producer.

Humphrey, 67, returns to the firm he helped found in 1929. He was a board member and chairman of National Steel's executive committee before he joined President Eisenhower's Cabinet in 1953.

His appointment was rumored for some time.

Humphrey resigned the Treasury post on May 29, but remained in the Cabinet until July 29. His successor in the Cabinet is Robert B. Anderson of Texas.

The new board chairman of National Steel is the second to hold the post. The firm was headed by 81-year-old tycoon Ernest T. Weir until last April. Weir died on June 26.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR NEXT 30 DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau Wednesday predicted below average temperatures from mid-August to mid-September in the Pacific Northwest, Great Lakes area and northern New England.

Above normal temperatures are expected in the southern half of the nation from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic Coast with greatest departures in the Central Plains. In other areas near normal averages are anticipated.

"Rainfall is predicted to exceed normal in the Great Lakes region, upper Mississippi Valley, far Southwest and Florida," the bureau said. "Subnormal amounts are indicated in the northwest, Southern Plains and middle Atlantic States. Elsewhere precipitation is expected to be not far from normal."

TRUCK HITS BOYS ON BICYCLES, ONE KILLED

STERLING, Ill. (AP)—Two boys on bicycles were struck down by a truck Wednesday. One died and the other was severely injured.

The truck driver, Leonard J. Ingles, 29, of Dubuque, Iowa, was charged with reckless homicide and held in $3,000 bond.

Dead was Joseph Allen Cross, 15, in a Sterling hospital, suffering from fractures of the arms and severe shock. His condition was listed as fair.

Ike Warns Of Special Session If Foreign Aid Funds Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower warned Wednesday of a possible special session of Congress if foreign aid funds are slashed — but a House subcommittee forthwith axed them by $809,650,000.

An Appropriations subcommittee headed by Rep. Passman (D-La) recommended $2,524,760,000 in new aid money and $667,050,000 in carryover funds from previous appropriations for a total of $3,191,810,000.

Eisenhower only four hours earlier had called a surprise news conference to ask for $3,367,083,000 in new funds.

At that, he noted, he would be getting half a billion dollars less than he originally had requested last January.

The news conference was called after the House passed and sent to Eisenhower a bill authorizing $3,367,000,000.

This measure, which Eisenhower signed, merely sets ceilings for foreign aid spending. The actual appropriations will be voted later — and it was to save off cuts in these that Eisenhower made his special appeal.

In addition to the new money authorized in the bill signed Wednesday, there are $19,860,000 in permanent appropriations which are part of the program, or a total of $3,386,860,000. The committee cut $862,100,000 from this total. But it offset $524,450,000 of the cut by increasing carryover funds by that amount. The total cut thus was $809,650,000.

Continue Charges Against Teacher In Grimes Case

CHICAGO (AP)—Charges against a Danville music teacher questioned in the Grimes murder mystery were continued to Sept. 27 in Domestic Relations Court Wednesday.

Eugene Travis, 40, was interrogated after police learned he had an interest in a music store near a restaurant frequented by the Grimes sisters and had solicited music pupils in the neighborhood.

He appeared before Judge Edward M. Kozs on charges of disorderly conduct and contributing to the delinquency of his minor daughter.

Travis branded the accusations "ridiculous," denied any connection with the Grimes case, and said the charges were injurious to him personally and to his business.

Barbara and Patricia Grimes, 15 and 13, disappeared Dec. 28 after leaving home for a movie. Their bodies were found in a ditch nearly a month later.

Asked to account for himself on Dec. 28, Travis told investigators he had finished his last music lesson in Danville at 9 p.m. Afterward he visited friends and watched television, he said.

Travis said he comes to Chicago occasionally to visit the music store. He usually arrives during the weekend and leaves by Tuesday. Asked about two visits to a South Side hotel Dec. 24 and Dec. 29, Travis said he returned to Danville between the two dates.

Travis operates a music store at 1415 E. Main St., Danville. He was graduated in music from Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington in 1952.

AFL-CIO Calls Eisenhower Economic Policies 'Confused'

CHICAGO (AP)—The AFL-CIO lashed out at the Eisenhower administration's economic policies Wednesday with a statement calling them "confused," "self-defeating" and "blundering."

The Executive Council of the 15 million-member labor organization approved a three-page statement that contended the hike in mortgage, loan and bond interest rates is "designed to hasten a recession."

The statement said that this year's industrial output dropped about 3 per cent while production facilities grew and prices rose.

"In the face of this crisis," it added, "leaders of the administration and of business are blundering dangerously."

What the country needs, the Council said, is steady economic growth. It added:

"Unfortunately, the country is paying dearly for the confused and self-defeating policies which the federal administration is pursuing."

"First, it has heaped fast tax writeoffs and other unwarranted benefits on big business and these have helped accelerate the price inflating investment boom."

"Second, with the avowed purpose of curbing prices, a blunderous high interest policy has been unleashed. But it hardly restrains the corporate giants whose spending, in the main, is internally financed. But it does benefit the banks. The net profit of commercial banks rose 15 per cent in the first six months of this year over the high level that already existed a year ago."

The Council took the position that the "tight money-high interest" policy is curtailing business and checking sales.

Of labor's places in the picture, the Council said that, while hourly wages of factory production and maintenance workers went up about 20 per cent between January, 1953 and May 1957 "unit labor costs rose only about 2 per cent" because of a "rapid rise in manpower output."

A unit labor cost is the cost of producing one piece of merchandise—such as one auto or one TV set.

"Rising productivity and high profits," the AFL-CIO said, "can absorb wage increases without (Continued On Page 13)"

Criticize Army For Methods Of Buying Clothing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army was severely criticized by the House Military Operations subcommittee Wednesday for "loose and irresponsible" procurement practices in the clothing field.

A group of companies controlled by Herman D. Wynn of Knoxville, Tenn., also came under fire for contributing, the subcommittee said, to many problems in clothing procurement.

Wynn is the brother-in-law of Robert Tripp Ross, who resigned last Feb. 14 as assistant secretary for legislative and public affairs in the Defense Department.

The House group exonerated Ross of any "wrongful acts" in connection with military contracts let to family firms while he was at the Pentagon. It lectured him, however, on the responsibilities of public office.

"By its loose and irresponsible procurement practices in the clothing field over the years," the investigators said, "the Army has done little or nothing to improve the quality of industrial performance in this area."

"It has granted marginal operators who trade on marginal labor. The Quartermaster Corps has accepted the least responsible elements as the norm for the industry."

"While the contractors are largely at fault through their insatiable hunger for contracts which they cannot perform in accordance with specified terms and conditions, the military procurement agencies also must be severely criticized for loading down the companies with new contracts in the face of repeated and current delinquencies."

was charged with failing to yield the right of way.

Both cars were damaged slightly.

You Can't Deny He's Brave

Only time will show the full range of attributes possessed by Neil H. McElroy, named by President Eisenhower to succeed the resigning Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

But at this stage there can be no doubt of his bravery.

A man who undertakes a top cabinet job in the Washington of this era is either brave or utterly foolhardy. And McElroy has given no indication that he is anybody's fool.

He must therefore be brave because if he is confirmed in his new post:

He will be giving up a relatively high-paying job as president of Procter and Gamble, soap manufacturers, to take a lower-paying assignment with the government.

He probably will have to divest himself of any stockholdings he has, in order to avoid any conflict of interest between his public and private activities.

Most likely he will have to maintain two homes—one in Cincinnati and another in Washington—on less money than he now has to keep one going.

Instead of worrying just about what his company board of directors may do he will have to worry over what some 531 U.S. lawmakers may say and do relative to his operations.

On top of this he will have to adjust his actions to the White House, to his fellow cabinet officers, to the various agencies and departments which affect his own field. And he will have to worry over what foreign governments think of the defense department's pronouncements and activities.

He may find he's spending as much time answering congressional and other inquiries about his activities as he is performing them.

He may discover, too, that he'll be criticized as inaccessible if he sticks to business and doesn't talk publicly, or that he'll be just as roundly assailed as a "pop-off" if he talks freely.

In short, he'll be playing a course that's nearly all sand traps and rough and practically no fairway. It takes nerve. And after he's chopped his way along for a while, McElroy may find himself dreaming of the old days in Cincinnati, when, by comparison, it was all fairway.

The Silent Explosion

In all this talk of the world population "explosion," not too clear an idea has been conveyed as to which countries are exploding the most. Usually there's an assumption that it's the Asiatic lands. But the ascertainable facts suggest otherwise.

United Nations studies show that the four nations with the highest birth rates are Mexico (46.5 per 1,000 population), Venezuela (46.4), Colombia (40.4), and Peru (32.2).

The first big Asiatic country in the list is India with a rate of 27.4. But this is not much greater than the current U.S. rate of 24.9 per 1,000. Russia stands at 25.6, and China is not listed, presumably because accurate figures are lacking.

We are actually almost outpacing India, since its death rate per 1,000 is 11.5 against 9.4.

But even though Mexico and Colombia have death rates exceeding India's, their net gains are tremendous. Lower death rates in Venezuela and Peru give them a staggering population advance.

It looks as if Latin America takes the palm in the population sweepstakes. If the trend continues they may have to take to eating palms.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—Most swimmers who encounter a shark merely worry how to escape him. A few brave souls, however, have a will desire to ride him bareback.

In both cases John Tassos, a New York City advertising executive and authority on skin diving, has the answer. He is the author of "The Underwater World," a guide for sportsmen who want to spear fish, explore wrecks or merely pick up shells from the floor of the sea.

How can a swimmer escape if he encounters a shark or barracuda near shore?

"The chances are, if you meet one of these big fish near shore, he will feed and merely curious at seeing you," said Tassos.

"The main thing to do is to avoid irritating him. How do you keep him calm? By staying calm yourself. The simplest thing to do is keep your eyes on him, and swim toward shore, slowly and easily."

"Remember he is in his home and you are the stranger and intruder in his house."

"Above all, don't panic. If you threaten the water violently trying to get away, you may excite him and cause him to attack."

"If a barracuda insists on coming too close, you can turn and swim toward him and he'll go away—999 times out of a million."

"If a shark comes too close, put you head under water and yell as loud as you can. 'Go away, you bum! Get lost!' He can't hear you, but he can feel the vibrations. If he still comes on, hit him on the nose, which is very sensitive because his brain is right behind it. Usually, then, he'll leave. If he comes back, hit him on the nose again."

"But don't panic and start floundering toward shore. The shark and barracuda are among the swiftest fish in the sea. You can't outswim them—you have to outthink them."

Tassos regards the shark as far more dangerous than the barracuda. "Lifeguards on the Florida beaches every day see inquisitive barracuda hovering a few yards from swimmers," he said, "but I know of no authenticated case where a barracuda actually attacked a bather in those areas."

"But any shark, even a two-foot one, may attack if angered. You can't grab even a baby one by the tail."

However, it is possible to ride a shark bareback and come home alive. Tassos is one of a number of veteran skin divers who enjoy this hobby, now limitedly popular in the Bahamas.

"It is a far-fetched sport," he admitted. "You get a half dozen spearmen to stand by for protection. Then you go up to a nurse shark, which is pretty sluggish but may run from 6 to 14 feet

Thinking It Over—

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Wrestling is a sport which requires great muscular strength and physical endurance. However, it can be dramatized with tricks and illusions to the point that it ceases to be a sport. Strength and stamina generally prevail in an honest match, but be alert to the tricks of the less powerful. A small spurt of energy can throw the expert off balance and he can lose the match.

Although few people ever wrestle on the mat in the sports arena, all of us have to wrestle constantly with mental, moral and spiritual opponents. This inner wrestling is as trying as any physical competition. Temptation plays tricks which upset the balance of the soul.

As we battle within ourselves we must keep up our courage and our strength by means of constant contact with God. He alone can keep us alert and powerful.

U.S. Gathers Air Strength During Disarmament Talks

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Just in case the London disarmament talks fail and the U.S. is forced to maintain a strong, armed posture, America's prime defense will not be found weakened.

In fact, while the disarmament talks have been grabbing the headlines, the Strategic Air Command has been quietly pushing programs which will bolster its deterrent strength. These developments were revealed during the recent convention of the Air Force Association.

SAC is now well into planning for the day when it will receive its first shipment of intermediate-range ballistic missiles with ranges of 1,500 miles. "The day they deliver the first operational missile to us we will be prepared to use it," a SAC spokesman says.

That date will be several years before the delivery of the 5,000-mile intercontinental missile. But even then manned bombers will still be an important part of SAC, it is believed.

Phasing out the manned bombers and phasing long-range missiles into SAC's mission, of course, is a precarious job, with an error one way or another likely to leave the country dangerously exposed.

But the job does not look as difficult as it was first thought to be. SAC's strategically placed bombers will be converted to missile bases. This will not require a great deal of physical change.

MISSILES WILL BE DELIVERED to bases via cargo aircraft so the long landing strips will still be needed. Larger storage areas may have to be added.

The big problem emerging from this planning is the expected difficulty of holding in service the missile experts who will have to man these new weapons. This problem will be greater than SAC's present headache of trying to keep its present crews in uniform.

There will be more competition from industry for these missile experts.

SAC's second vital program currently being pushed is the worldwide dispersal of its bases. This is being done on the assumption that the first strike by an enemy will be at SAC's planes and bases. It also assumes that an enemy will not strike unless he believes he can wipe out America's deterrent force with that initial blow.

IF THE ENEMY isn't positive that he can do this, he knows that at best he will be horribly wounded by what's left of the U.S. retaliatory or deterrent force. So he isn't likely to attack in the first place.

This concept also assumes that one enemy bomb can wipe out one

U.S. base and all its planes. If a full wing is located on one base it could be wiped out, theoretically, by one bomb. But if a wing has its three squadrons dispersed on three separate bases it becomes three times as difficult for the enemy to wipe out a full wing. In other words, by putting the same number of planes on more bases the value of each plane is greatly enhanced.

Actually, if the number of SAC bases is doubled, it becomes more than twice as difficult for the enemy to wipe out SAC's retaliatory ability.

This same theory applies to the day when intercontinental missiles are the opposing weapons. But the need for the original enemy striking force goes up even faster as the retaliatory missile force is dispersed, because missiles are not as accurate as planes.

IN OTHER WORDS an enemy would have to plan on shooting four missiles to wipe out one base. Perhaps. So if the number of bases will be targets is doubled, the number of missiles an enemy must have to be sure of wiping them out would be quadrupled.

The actual figures on the new bases SAC is dispersing to is a secret, of course.

A final major effort of SAC at this time is the incorporation of new jet KC-135 tankers into its refueling system. The first of these huge flying gas tanks are just being delivered to SAC and crews are being checked out in them.

The KC-135s will give the new B-52 bombers real intercontinental capabilities. They will permit the B-52s to take on fuel without slowing down and without dropping down from the cruising altitude.

The speed which the KC-135s add to the mission of a B-52 is considerable. And every minute will count if the big shoot starts.

Thus far, the record shows we have been successful in this (getting U.S. GI's fair trials in foreign lands).

—Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ten years ago, a young Italian actor left Hollywood swearing never to return.

He had left Europe at the height of his career, earning $45,000 a picture. But Hollywood gave him nothing to do but play a bespectacled scholar in "Little Women."

Today Rossano Brazzi is back for one of the prize roles of any year—the lead in "South Pacific."

What happened to him during the 10 years?

"I had to go back and build my career all over again," he confessed. "When I returned to Italy, they all said that I had failed in America. So I went back to the stage. Always when I am in trouble, I return to the stage. I did O'Neill's 'Strange Interlude' and won the prize for acting that year."

His film career revived in Europe. But the real turning point was "Three Coins in the Fountain," which he did for $25,000. That brought him international acclaim, and he followed with "The Barefoot Contessa," "Summer Time," and the unrelaxed "Interlude," "Golden Virgin" and "Legend of the Lost."

Brazzi is obviously enjoying his return to Hollywood in style. A bronzed 168 pounds, he was relaxing in white trunks beside the pool of the Beverly Hills home he is renting. It once housed Rita Hayworth, but Brazzi said it was cheap — "only $1,000 a month; you could spend that in six days in a hotel here."

The actor said he was excited about the "South Pacific" script. One of the few he has really liked.

"I have done 88 pictures and only four or five of them were really good. Imagine that!"

"The nice thing about having success is that you don't have to do the bad pictures if you don't want to. I think I will do less and less pictures. I am in good financial shape. I think maybe in three or four years I will quit it all and retire."

I mentioned that I had heard other actors voice that thought but none ever carried it out.

"Ah, but I have not always been an actor," he remarked. "I started in the law, then switched to acting. That is the difference."

Plan Ahead to Day When Last Child Leaves the Fold

"Our youngest child goes off to college this fall. I know I'll be simply lost with the last one gone." I recently heard a woman remark. It's not an unusual observation. But a woman should make up her mind ahead of time that she is bound to feel lost when her children leave home.

Sure, the house is going to seem empty. And there won't be as much work to do. But why should that make a woman feel lost? She doesn't have to sit in the house all day listening to the emptiness.

And certainly a few free hours of her own each day ought not to be a weight around any woman's neck.

Why should we women take such a defeatist attitude toward the peace and leisure offered when the long job of rearing a family is done?

Why are we frightened by the prospect of having enough time to do things we always claimed we wanted to do?

HANGOVER? Is it just a hangover from years when there actually wasn't much for a woman to do once her family was reared?

Does the prospect of doing things we always wanted to do scare us silly because we don't really want to do anything any more? That is something for a woman to start thinking about long before her last child leaves home.

Just a little thought ought to convince any woman that a bit more freedom than she has been used to isn't anything to be frightened of. There's nothing so terrible about a home from which children have gone forth to make their own way.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It won't be from fatigue if Congress quits in a week or so. There's talk it may. This Congress, starting in January and run by the Democrats, has set no records.

At the most it has passed six pieces of major legislation. All were asked by President Eisenhower.

And it killed one of his biggest items: federal aid to education.

For this, Eisenhower can thank his own House Republicans, who played fast and loose and just a little too cute with the federal aid bill.

First, they teamed up with Northern Democrats to attach an anti-segregation amendment which was poison to Southern Democrats, who'd rather have no bill than that.

Then the Republicans did an about face and teamed up with the Southern Democrats to kill the bill altogether.

And Eisenhower can take a good part of the blame himself.

Because it wasn't precisely the bill he asked, he expressed himself as lukewarm to it, even though it was the only bill which seemed to have a chance of passing.

His coolness encouraged Republicans to kill it. If he had fought for it, he could have saved it. Three Republican votes would have turned the trick.

Monday the two Texas Democrats who are the leaders of Congress—Speaker Rayburn and Sen. Johnson—talked of possible adjournment in a week or so.

They said this either because they meant it or as a needle to the Republicans to start compromising on the civil rights bill.

That bill passed the House as Eisenhower wanted it. In the Senate, Democrats changed it so much that the Republicans are demanding the Democrats undo what they did.

Unless the two sides agree, there'll be no civil rights law. Rayburn and Johnson linked early adjournment with the bill.

Rayburn says if there's a stalemate, he's for going home. Johnson talked of a quick ending if there's no stalemate.

Also killed in this Congress—along with school aid—were the flood insurance program and corn price stabilization. Eisenhower asked for both.

These were the major items passed. Authority for Eisenhower to use American troops in the Middle East to stop Communist aggression; a federal housing program; an increase in interest rates on federal savings bonds; extension of the excise and corporation taxes for another 15 months; an increase in the loan authority of the Small Business Administration; approval for this country to join the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Dead for the year were administration proposals for a voluntary health insurance program and extension of the $1 minimum wage law to an additional 2½ million workers.

Eisenhower asked Congress to let him raise postal rates. And Congress may, before it quits, give him such authority. But—

It may do so in such a way that he'll veto it: by linking a boost in postal rates with a raise for federal employees, which he doesn't want.

After months of haggling the two houses are about to let Eisenhower have not more than $3,367,000,000 for foreign aid, or 500 million dollars less than he asked.

But Congress hasn't completed action on the authorization yet, and the actual money bill which must follow may be cut much more sharply.

Nor has Congress completed action on all the other appropriations—money Eisenhower asked for running the government. He'll get less than he asked Congress to appropriate—than anyone else.

He did this by talking of the possibility of cuts in what he had just requested and then, in desperation, making a nationwide broadcast to appeal against too much cutting.

All in all this was hardly an impressive year.

The judge ordered the defendant taken to a doctor for a new cast and then sent the man to jail for 30 days to heal the fracture.

Most Important Step in Asthma Is Finding Cause.

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Asthma is usually included among the allergic diseases. Certainly the most important cause of asthma is sensitivity to inhaled dust, including pollens, molds, household dust and animal danders, with foods and drugs some-times responsible.

The principal feature of asthma is shortness of breath with a wheezing type of breathing. Frequently asthma comes in attacks with freedom from difficulty in between. Sometimes it is continuous. It is always uncomfortable for the victim and distressing for others to watch an attack.

Even WHEN asthma results from long-time hay fever or some other exposure to foreign substances much can usually be done. The first and most important step is to identify the cause. This can frequently be done by studying the history of the attacks of asthma.

For example, a youngster who gets attacks as soon as he starts playing with a dog is in all probability sensitive to the dog dander. Other methods of identifying the cause include skin tests (not always completely reliable) and trial and error exposures of the asthmatic individual to suspected substances.

TREATMENT includes those methods which are used for the individual attack and those which are used to try to prevent or lessen future bouts of asthma. The treatment of an acute phase of asthma certainly requires professional advice. The basis treatment of the disorder depends on the cause: If the victim can be removed from the cause or the cause from the victim, much improvement will result.

Occasionally someone with asthma can be desensitized by being given small and increasing quantities of the offending substance. Also, since asthma is often complicated by infections, an effort should be made to attack any infection present. Frequently the general health influences the severity of asthma so that every effort should be made to build up the general condition.

THERE ARE, of course, many medical measures used in asthma, including various types of injections, the use of iodides and more recently the sometimes highly effective results of the use of cortisone, ACTH or related preparations.

August Is the Month for Hi-Lo Turkey Sandwiches

HI-LO TURKEY sandwiches with thick slices of white meat, cheese, egg salad and liver paste are a meal in themselves.

BY GAYNOR MARDDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Turkeys are big market news now. Leading the list of plentiful foods, they offer top quality protein at budget prices.

Here's a he-man sandwich—a meal in itself. Made with thick slices of white meat from the breast, sliced cheese, egg salad and cranberry sauce, it packs a tremendous nutritional wallop, plus a mountain of eating pleasure.

HI-Lo Turkey Sandwiches
Five slices bread (rye, white or wholewheat), butter or margarine, soft, salt and pepper, mayonnaise or salad dressing, optional, lettuce leaves, 1/3 cup chopped egg salad, 2 slices favorite cheese, 3 tablespoons liver paste or sausage (mashed), 2 cranberry turkey cut-outs.

Make "Hi" sandwich in layers, as follows: Begin with slice of bread spread with butter or margarine. Cover with lettuce (seasoned with salt, pepper, mayonnaise or salad dressing, as desired). Add turkey breast meat.

For second layer use second slice of bread, spread with half the egg salad. Top this with turkey, lettuce, cheese, and liver paste or sausage. For third layer, use third slice of bread topped with lettuce, turkey and a turkey cut-out of cranberry jelly.

Make "Lo" sandwich in two tiers. Begin with "buttered" slice of bread, covered with lettuce (seasoned), turkey breast meat, and the remaining half of egg salad. Top this with a second slice of bread, cheese, lettuce and turkey. Decorate with turkey cut-out of cranberry jelly.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Onion soup, Hi-Lo turkey sandwiches, celery, radishes, carrot sticks, blueberry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

The three chief causes of discomfort in summer are the heat, the humidity, and arguing about which is worse.

Interpreting
The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
The conflict between the State Department and the group of Americans which left Moscow
Wednesday for Red China doesn't make either side look very good.
Most of the world and a great many Americans think the administration's general attitude toward Red China is unrealistic.

The youth group, which includes a great many who are not so youthful, displays an unpleasant disregard for the propaganda results of their defiance of their government.

Some of them are writers and students looking for material. A few of them lean to communism.
Some of them honestly believe that the road to peace is through better understanding of other peoples and consider themselves something like the ambassadors which President Eisenhower has said "every American abroad should be. Some of them are active crusaders for democracy.
Some of them are going for the buggy ride.

Most of them are immature.
So is the State Department's backdated bluff that they "may" be violating the Trading with the Enemy Act. The department might have some trouble proving that Red China is a legal enemy, since the "quasi war" to which it refers was never declared.

There is a possibility that the few members of the group who told the Russians about the U.N. report of Red Army brutality toward the workers of Hungary may have done enough good to overbalance any harm that might accrue from the whole incident.

Russians are people, and they are in a position where enough sparks may one day set off a universal demand for liberty.

Any out-and-out Communist in the youth delegation can hardly be worse off than before. Some with Communist leanings may be receiving eye-opening experience.
To fear that the wholesome members of the group will be subverted during these brief contacts with Russian Reds and Chinese Reds is to doubt the American values with which they have been raised.

The State Department position, then, falls back into the pattern of maintaining a moral posture toward Red China which interferes with the traditional feeling of an American that he has the right to go anywhere and see for himself.

THROUGH WITH BIKES

TULSA, Okla. (P)—Two teenage brothers from Omaha, Neb., say they are through with bicycles

"I'll never do it again," said
John Sanko, 17, after completing the 374-mile trip Tuesday. He gave his bike to his Tulsa cousins.
Frank Sanko, 15, was too tired to sleep.

Appeal Case Of
Marine Acquitted
On Murder Charge

TOKYO (P)—The prosecution
today appealed the case of a U.S.
Marine acquitted on a murder charge in a Japanese court July 31.

Pfc. Adolph W. Metern of East
St. Louis, Ill., was found innocent by the Yokosuka District Court
July 31 of charges of fatally wounding 19-year-old Shiro Takawa in a bar.

The court held that Metern, 25,
was drunk when he opened fire, shouting that he was protecting fellow Marines from some communists. Japanese courts frequently are lenient toward defendants who were intoxicated when committing a crime, holding them to be mentally deranged at the time.

In Japan either the defense or prosecution may appeal a verdict, and this was the final day on which the Yokohama prosecutor's office could have taken such action. The Tokyo higher court was expected to announce within two or three weeks when a new trial will begin. The higher court cannot refuse to accept the appeal and under Japanese law must schedule a new trial.

Rain, Lightning
Causes Damage
In Kennett, Mo.

KENNETT, Mo. (P)—Nearly 10 inches of rain fell here in less than eight hours Tuesday night, flooding streets and disrupting electrical service.

Lightning struck the First Methodist Church and its interior was swept by fire. No injuries from the storm were reported.
Half of the business firms reported water damage. Mostly as the result of flooded basements where stock had been stored. Water still was bumper deep today in most of the downtown streets of this southeastern Missouri town of 8,600 population.

Twenty three cars of a Missouri
Pacific freight train were derailed near Knob, Ark., near the Missouri state line, where tracks were under water.
Rains of up to three inches also hit nearby corners of Arkansas and southern Illinois. The rainfall here measured 9 2-3 inches.

act has been filed in federal court at Springfield against Richard John Leach, 18, of Superior, Wis.,

day night by Jacksonville police.
The Springfield office of the FBI brought the charges against Leach, who is accused of transporting a stolen car from Grand Forks,
N.D., to Jacksonville.

Carl Winters, 24, of Oklahoma, is held in the Morgan county jail to await a charge of driving a car without the owner's consent, in connection with the same case.

A third prisoner, 16 year old Patrick Boylan of Superior, Wis., is held as a juvenile offender.
The three youths were apprehended here Monday night by

Scoff Reports Of Terrifying Animal Tales

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P) — Is there a puma on the prowl in central Illinois? What is the huge bird that screams at night on Piassa Creek in Jersey County?

Illinois wildlife experts tend to scoff at these terrifying thin tales of animals and birds that are big enough to be a threat to man. Yet the tales persist. Early this year there was a widespread search in northern Illinois for a cougar reported at large.

Last year a state conservation agent reported seeing and wounding a panther in the Sangamon River bottoms near Lincoln.

The puma, also called a cougar, was reported in an area west of Maroa 10 miles north of Decatur and southeast of Lincoln.

Sheriff C. W. Peebles puts faith in the report. Clyde Dennison, a Milikin University professor of biology, says the tracks are identical to those of a puma. Plaster casts of the tracks are six inches wide and five inches across the paw.

However, there are Maroa residents who don't share the uneasiness of many farmers and say the tracks were made by a large dog.

A mother who rose in early morning to cover her youngsters in a Piassa Creek cabin was attracted to the window by what she thought was a baby cry. The cry became a scream.

As she looked out the window, she saw a large bird unfold its wings and fly away.

The mother admits the tale sounds fantastic but says other cabin owners have heard the strange cry and screams. She says herons or egrets don't fly at night and the bird was too large to be an owl.

CITY SLICKERS

MINNEAPOLIS (P) — If these city yeggs had known more about fish eggs they might have gotten away with a safe cracking job.

A trio of 16-year-old burglars stole a safe from a suburban store and took it to a lonely road along a creek north of here. What they didn't know was that Game Warden H. B. Kulavar was keeping a close patrol on streams in the area that were teeming with spawning fish.

He came upon the trio trying to open the safe, arrested them and turned them over to authorities.

Cemetery Boards Sponsor Picnic At Patterson

PATTERSON—Thursday, August 8, marked another big day in Patterson, when people from far and near gathered in the school grounds for the seventeenth annual fish and chicken fry, sponsored by the Pine Tree, Patterson and Rawlins Cemeteries; the proceeds are used for their upkeep.

The weatherman favored them with a grand day, with no clouds in sight. However the temperature rose during the day, but not enough to keep the crowds at home. Between seven and eight hundred meals were sold during the noon hour, with the number going over twelve hundred for the evening meal. The refreshment stand did a good business during the day and evening and provided sandwiches and drinks in the evening for those who did not care for a full meal.

A total of nine hundred pounds of fish were bought for the event and fifteen hundred and eighty six pounds of chicken. These, together with the many kinds of salads and other dishes which were served, made a meal which left no one hungry.

Entertainment for the late afternoon and evening was furnished by Top Talents Inc. from Springfield, Mo. This was their second appearance here, having been here for the 1956 picnic, and includes Chuck Bowers, Jimmy or Dry Iron, to Ed Sherwin, of Glasgow, Everett Taylor, received a desk set, as attendance prize.

The awarding of the prizes concluded the evening's activities. The Frigidaire Automatic Refrigerator was awarded to Mrs. Laura Dawdy of Patterson; the Hamilton Beach Vacuum Cleaner, to Mrs. Zelma Savage, of Winchester; the Zenith Portable Radio, to Donald Snead, of Roodhouse; and the Sunbeam Steam or Dry Iron, to Ed Sherwin, of Glasgow. Everett Taylor, received a desk set, as attendance prize.

Total receipts of this picnic were, $4224.42, expenses were $2572.00 leaving a net profit of $1652.42, which will be divided among the three cemeteries.

As Readjustments Go Present One Is Least Painful

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — As rolling readjustments go the current one is about the least painful so far. If you look only at the statistics it could scarcely be more pleasant.

The factory work week shortens a bit but the average take home pay goes up anyway — the rising cost of living has added a cent or two here and there to the hourly wage rates.

Factory employment is off a bit but total employment is up — the trades and services flourish, especially the summer jobs of catering to the pleasures of Americans taking it easy.

Summer shutdowns in some industries are more pronounced and longer than usual but those laid off climb onto state insured unemployment rolls — this provides enough spending money to go ahead with their vacation plans.

The number of jobless has risen a bit over last year but the percentage rate holds steady at around 4 per cent of the total civilian labor force — this is because the labor force is larger than ever before.

Why then should stock traders be getting cautious and businessmen watchful?

All of the cushions that have been added so industriously for the last 25 years seem to be working. And so, the readjustment is going along smoothly, at least so far. And few are those who see any really rough going ahead.

A rise in the cost of living brings a rise in pay for about four million workers — even if for many more millions there is no such cushion.

Unemployment benefits ease the jolts and jars when industries struggle to get their inventories, production and sales back into line with each other.

Industrial production — the making of goods for sale — is off. People aren't buying as many of these things now, especially of the durable variety and the big ticket items.

But total consumer spending continues at a peak. People are spending for other things, particularly for services.

The amount they spend on food increases every year—partly because prices have a way of going up, too, but also partly because they are buying the more expensive cuts of meat and the more expensively prepared foods with most of the work taken out.

Merchants in other lines are confident that retail sales this fall will run ahead of last year. Auto makers and appliance manufacturers are talking confidently, at least, of a pickup in sales this fall. Store buyers are reported ordering in good volume in most of the soft goods lines.

STAMPLIDE AT BLUE SPRINGS BY GENE OLSON

XXVI

IT was a long afternoon and hot and dusty but it passed. The moon came and it lay on its back like a slice of melon. That meant frost coming, homesteader folks would say. And with the frost came the buffaloes.

While I waited for dark to settle in, the first flock of ducks heading south for the winter passed low over the east side of town, pointing straight across the moon-bright sky.

I got up and went out into Depot St. It was as dark as it would get with the moon climbing. I wanted to go out to The Rock for a while but I decided not to go. I thought Blanchard might need me.

A man walked west on Depot St. toward the livery. He got close and I recognized Jordan Peterson. I started to duck into the barn when he lifted his hand to me. I looked fast over to the hotel. Blanchard was still on the porch, alone. I wondered if he saw. I went into the barn and turned into the harness room.

Peterson came after me and stopped and leaned against the door jamb, rubbing his chin, his eyes in shadow under his black hat. I dropped into Owen's chair, facing Peterson.

Peterson said, "Nice evening. I nodded. Owen's home eating supper."

"Good," Peterson took out a pipe and tapped it against the heel of his shiny shoe. "Pike, it's time we had a little talk."

I squirmed. I couldn't remember any comfortable talk I'd ever had with Peterson. "What... about?"

"About your marshal friend," I got up. "Maybe you better talk to him."

"No. No. Sit down. You see, Pike... well, a man sometimes has to change his mind. He has to be ready to, anyway. You'll learn that, once you get older."

I let myself back into the chair. I thought I might enjoy this particular little talk after all. Peterson waited, then said, "Now. We've had our differences, no mistake. That trouble we had over Dora. Maybe those things happen. Well, maybe they don't mean as much as they seem like they do, right at the time, I mean."

I settled back.

Peterson said, "Well. Don't you... isn't there something you want to say?"

"Maybe," I said. "But nobody listens to me."

PETTERSON cleared his throat. Red crawled up his neck. "Been thinking, Pike. Maybe this town hasn't done right by you. Maybe you've got good reasons for what you're doing."

"All I'm doing, Mr. Peterson, is sitting. Just sitting and listening to your talk."

Peterson bit his lips. Red went up around his ears and sweat came out on his face. I tried to keep from grinning.

He said, "You know what I mean. Well... maybe you didn't realize when you got started that it would go like this. All this trouble. You got to remember, Pike, you're a part of this town. You're from Blue Springs."

"By golly. Never thought you'd admit that, Mr. Peterson."

"Pike, do you care what happens to this town? Or don't you?"

I got up slow. I had to say it. I knew I might never get the chance again. "Mr. Peterson, I drewled, 'I'll tell you what I'd like to do to this town. What I'd like to do to this town is stand it up on end and throw buffalo chips at it."

Peterson's hand grabbed the door jamb. His lips lost color. His eyes snapped just like Dora's.

Young Burglar Collapses After Prison Sentence

A 20 year old youth who confessed to several Jacksonville house burglaries, in addition to many others elsewhere, collapsed on being sentenced to serve from one to 20 years in prison in Sangamon county court at Springfield, and a short time later made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from deputy sheriffs.

The prisoner under sentence is Richard J. Seiwert, who claimed Jacksonville as his home, but who had lived in rented rooms here only three weeks after arriving from Chicago.

He was arrested at Bates, east of New Berlin, after robbing a home in Springfield. Seiwert later admitted burglaries in this city at homes of Major Servais, Ira Story, Osborne Elliott, and Dr. T. W. Auner.

Seiwert, who had a previous record which made him ineligible for parole, pleaded guilty to a charge he burglarized the home of Harold Cox at 2108 S. Pasfield street, Springfield, on Aug. 5, taking a metal box containing about $1000 in government bonds, some stock certificates and $20.11 in currency.

When Circuit Judge DeWitt S. Crow passed sentence on Seiwert, the defendant collapsed on the court room floor, and was carried to an adjoining room by Deputies Robert Fahey and Kenneth Revell. A doctor was summoned but before he could arrive Seiwert leaped to his feet and headed toward a window. He was knocked down by the deputies who handcuffed him and took him back to county jail, where he has been held since his arrest.

Circle Naomi To Have Picnic At Nichols Park

Naomi circle of the Centenary Methodist church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. D. O. Floeth, with Mrs. Tom Poor of Jacksonville as a guest.

The leader, Mrs. Freitag, opened the meeting; Mrs. Dibrell had devotions. A cultivation fund was taken.

Mrs. Gertrude Shell is the hostess for the August meeting. The meeting will be August 20 at Nichols Park with a sack lunch at noon. Each member is asked to bring his own lunch and to meet at the church to go to the park in a body at noon. In case anyone cannot make it to the church please go directly to the park.

A social hour followed the business meeting.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ISSAQUAH, Wash.—(NEA)—Peter Rademacher maneuvered Johnny Riggins into a corner and started to throw to the head. Riggins, a dusky 184-pounder from Detroit, sprayed punches, a bit too easily, perhaps, to the middle of Rademacher's strong-looking body. Then Riggins moved out of the corner and Rademacher, surprisingly agile, was after him.

This was your first look at the implausible young man who is to have his first professional bout as challenger for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title on Aug. 22. Rademacher trains in a firehouse here in this small village 20 miles north of Seattle. Pete boxed two rounds with Riggins and it was enough to give a vague notion of how he fights. His idea, apparently, is to corner Patterson and go to the head. The fact his body seems wide open disturbs one used to seeing fights.

Rademacher's reddish-brown hair is losing a battle to sun-banned skin on the top of his head. He has the sloping shoulders of a puncher and his tanned body has freckles on it here and there. Those expecting a big, slow, muscle-bound guy are surprised. Rademacher moves loosely and well.

But here and there, the mark of amateur shows in his movements. But all this is forgotten when you walk downstairs to the little basement dressing room he uses, sit down on an old couch and listen to Rademacher talk as an Army sergeant gives him a rub-down. As a talker, Pete is, roughly, an Archie Moore who shaves.

"Lundberg flew the Atlantic," Pete begins. "Gertrude Ederle swam the English Channel. They weren't accepted until they did it. I won the Olympic title, but when I came back I found I wasn't accepted. I had to do something else."

"I had two objectives. One was Archie Moore, who was old. One was Floyd Patterson, who was young. I was in between. I was younger and stronger than Moore, more mature mentally and physically than Patterson. I wind up with Patterson."

"That's fine with me. I'm taking this whole business in one swoop. No waiting. And I don't think Patterson can punch too well. As far as this first fight business, well, I've been working with pros for 10 years now. George here (he motioned to George Chermers, the Seattle trainer) has handled me for that period. In fact, I boxed more against Harry Matthews than I ever did any amateurs," Pete went on.

Like a door-to-door salesman who has the housewife ready to buy, Rademacher plunged on. The amateur is a master merchant and his basic attack with visitors is to underplay the whole business of his impending bout with Patterson.

"There was," he smiles, "far more tension on me during the Olympics than now. This is merely the fulfillment of something I wanted to do. I'm not the least bit nervous about it. I'm ready right now, in fact. All we're doing here now is tapering off, keeping sharp."

Rademacher then went into a sermon about Youth Unlimited, the outfit which put up the money, and it is up—about $250,000 of it—to entice Patterson and Cus D'Amato into a three-day trip to this town.

"Youth Unlimited," Pete said in hushed tones, "will give anybody who has the incentive, a chance to do what he wants to do."

In some quarters, people hope it won't find too many amateurs who desire the heavyweight championship.

"In my case," he smiled, it is to put the lug on Patterson. I can't wait to do it. I like to hit people you know."

One embarrassing question—about the fact he won one of his Olympic qualifying bouts while on the floor after being fouled—was quickly brushed aside by Rademacher. "Oh, that happened," he said, "but I beat the man, Johnny Johnson, easily the next time out."

Outside the fire house, a visitor tried to collect his thoughts after the liberal brain-washing that had taken place. But all he could be certain of was that Mr. Rainier, which serves as a snow-tipped backdrop for this town, would wind up with a roof over it if Pete Rademacher, salesman, wanted it that way.

Williams Keys Boston To 6-4 Win Over Yanks

BOSTON—Ted Williams, answering the challenge of Mickey Mantle, belted his 31st homer of the season and made a vital throw from left field Wednesday as he keyed Boston's 6-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

The 38-year-old slugger's three-run blast in the second inning was the crusher.

Williams, defending his American League batting lead against the 25-year-old Mantle, also hammered a single in his three trips. That increased his margin to eight percentage points—390 to 382—over Mickey.

The Yankee flash singled his first trip, then was retired three times in succession.

Yankee veteran outfielder Hank Bauer drove in three New York runs on his 13th homer and a single. Don Larsen, who gave only three hits in seven innings of relief, singled in the ninth to score the final Yankee run.

Tom Brewer of the Red Sox, credited with his 14th triumph of the year, yielded 15 hits in 8 2/3 innings but did not allow a walk and was aided by three double plays and two putouts on outfield throws.

Williams' big defensive play came as the game opened. Lead-off batter Bauer singled off the left field wall.

Bauer, gambling on Williams' aging arm, dug for second but a perfect peg and tag by Gene Mauch cut him down.

As Williams put on his display, some fans held up a huge sign which read: "Ted Williams, Greatest American Since George Washington."

That increased his margin to eight percentage points—390 to 382—over Mickey.

Carmichael, 18, hit 15 greens in regulation in posting 35-36 while Bernard Magnusson of Winnetka, Ill., moved into second place with 73 for 223. ## Tam O'Shanter Field May Be Trimmed In Half CHICAGO—Tam O'Shanter's four ring golf circuit, during which approximately $150,000 in cash is distributed, may have its huge field trimmed in half next year.

This was indicated Wednesday by George S. May, 67-year-old owner of the plush course at suburban Niles. At the same time May denied rumors Tam O'Shanter would be sold for subdivision purposes.

May said halving the field of 237 would protect the course and make for a better tournament.

Concerning reports Tam might be sold, May said:

"I've turned down offers up to three million dollars. The mortgage is cleaned up and we don't owe the banks anything. I've built up this tournament for 16 years. It would be ridiculous to quit now."

BLAME COACHES, PARENTS FOR ATHLETE'S ATTITUDE

STORRS, Conn.—(AP)—The evils of recruiting college athletes are not restricted to college coaches and officials, a prominent basketball coach said Wednesday.

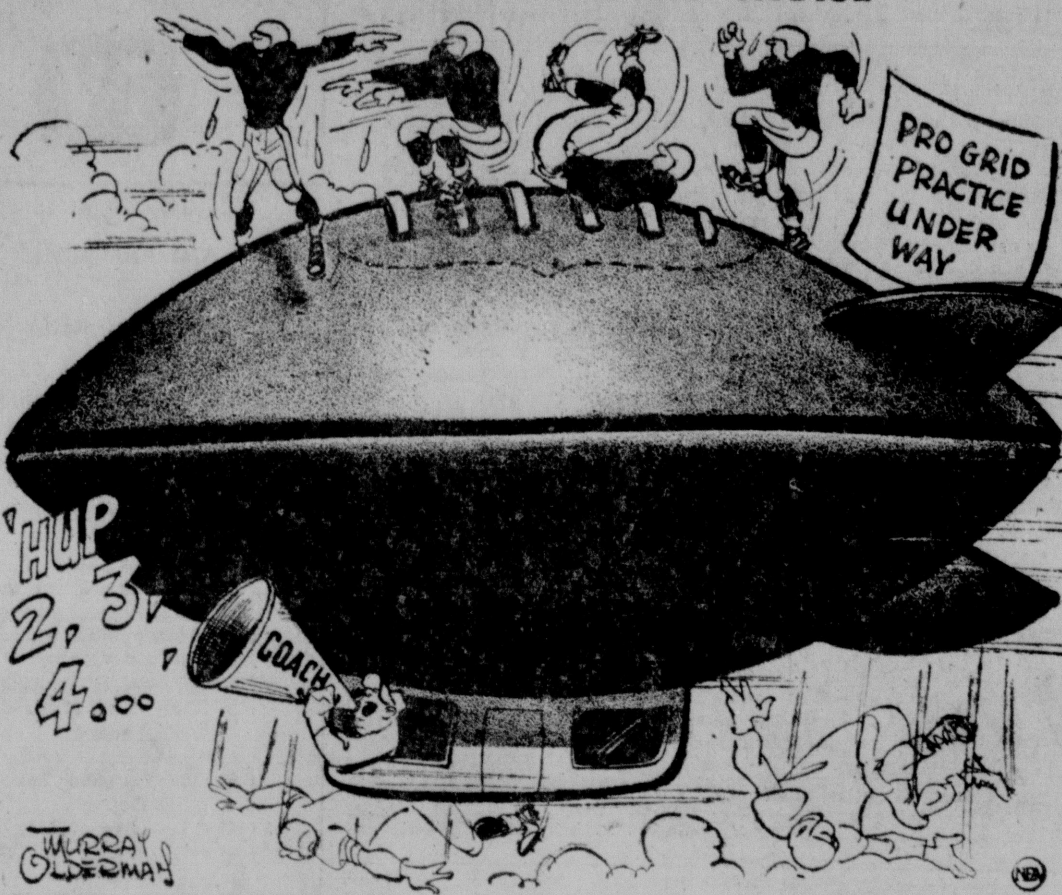

Speaking at a coaches clinic at the University of Connecticut, Ed Hickey, head basketball coach and director of athletics at the University of St. Louis, said that high school coaches and even parents must share part of the blame.

Hickey said many parents and high school coaches are failing in their primary responsibility in guidance by pushing prospective college athletes into various situations.

Because of this, said Hickey, some prospective athletes bargain with schools in a "How much can I get?" attitude instead of being guided by a desire to get a good education because of their athletic ability.

Drott Shuts Off Cardinal Threat In 9th As Cubs Win, 3-1

CHICAGO—Twenty-one-year-old Dick Drott shut off a St. Louis threat by striking out the side in the ninth inning Wednesday to preserve the Chicago Cubs 3-1 fifth straight victory over the fifth Redbirds.

The defeat was the eighth straight for St. Louis which fell seven games behind Milwaukee's pace setting Braves. The Cardinals have scored only 11 runs over that stretch.

Joe Cunningham, moved into right field Wednesday in Manager Fred Hutchinson's lineup shake up, opened the Cardinal ninth by drawing a walk. Shortstop Al Dark doubled, sending Cunningham to third. Umpire Bill Jackowski called a balk on Drott which enabled Cunningham to score and Dark to move to third.

Drott then fanned Hobie Landrith and pinch hitters Wally Moon and Kenny Boyer.

Altogether Drott yielded only six hits and fanned six while walking five.

The Cubs gave Drott a 2-0 lead in the sixth when Moose Moryn and Ernie Banks hit back-to-back home runs.

The Cubs picked up their third run in the seventh after Billy Moffett replaced starter Wilmer Mizell, who exited after the sixth with his ninth loss. He has won four.

DIZZY FILLY LIKES TO RUN

She bolted at the start.

Jockey Les Lightbrown brought her under control, took her to the starting post and went on to win a mile and one quarter race by six lengths.

But Silver Sally still wanted to run. So she went around the mile and a quarter track again before the jockey could pull her up.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Gus Triandos and Brooks Robinson smashed home runs for Baltimore Wednesday night as the Orioles defeated Washington 4-3 for their ninth victory in 12 games.

The Senators suffered their fifth straight loss.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox battered Cleveland Indian pitching again Wednesday night, slugging 14 hits, including three home runs, for an 8-3 victory. It was the Tribe's sixth straight loss.

The White Sox gained a full game on the New York Yankees, whom they now trail by four and a half games.

Minnie Minoso and Jim Rivera homered off starter Early Wynn in the third inning, sealing the veteran righthander's 13th loss and evening his season record.

Time Me Ahead Of All Trotting Fillies At Fair

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Time Me, a Hambletonian noneligible, Wednesday won the Castleton Farms breeders' stake for 3-year-old trotting fillies in the Grand Circuit harness racing feature at the Illinois State Fairgrounds.

Time Me, driven by Joe O'Brien, did the first mile in 2:05 1-5 and the second in 2:04 3-6. Behind her in the field of nine were six candidates for the Hambletonian to be held at DuQuoin, Ill., Aug. 27.

Newport Jockey handed Good Counsel her first defeat in the first heat of the 3-year-old pace. Good Counsel broke badly and between heats she was found to be suffering from a suspensory injury. She was scratched from the second heat.

Newport Jockey toured the opening mile in 2:00 1-5 and was clocked in 2:02 4-5 her second trip.

MONTREAL—(AP)—Britain's Walker Cup golfers arrived Wednesday en route to the Canadian Amateur Championships at Winnipeg's St. Charles Country Club.

The 11-man team will be at Winnipeg for the championships, Aug. 19-24. Then the team will meet the American amateurs in Walker Cup play at Minneapolis Aug. 30-31.

CurVE BALL—Knowing the full value of them, Enos Slaughter is already teaching his little daughter, Gaye, 10 months, how to throw curves at their River Edge, N.J., home. This particular baseball is important to the New York Yankees' veteran outfielder. It was the one he belted for his 230th major league hit. At 41, he plays with the enthusiasm of a kid.

Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK—(AP)—Al Besselink, a big handsome lug who ambles his career way along the pro tournament golf trail, apparently has come up with a foolproof gimmick to add to his income without winning.

Besselink finished well down in the "world" tournament at the Tam O'Shanter Club over the weekend, but through a little side deal with Dick Mayer, the winner, he collected $5,000 of Mayer's $50,000 purse.

The plan is simplicity itself, and if Besselink could get the cooperation of every player in a tournament he'd be assured of a steady income.

He just agrees to give a player so much—in this case $5,000—out of his purse if he wins to any other player or players who agree to return the favor should they win.

Naturally the exuberant young man with the wavy blond hair would go broke rather abruptly should he win a tournament and have deals with all the other competitors to give them a cut in his purse. A bookie who saw a long-shot, on which he was holding the tabs come in, would be prosperous by comparison.

Besselink's insurance, though, is the fact he rarely wins tournaments. His only victory this year was in the $22,000 Kansas City Open although he lost to Ed Furgol in a sudden death playoff for the Caliente Open title.

He didn't finish in the top 25 in money earnings last year.

Under the circumstances it would seem it would take a little super-salesmanship on the part of Besselink to make a profit-sharing deal with some of the more consistent pros when it comes to winning tournaments.

But he's a popular guy, one who could do a good selling job.

He might have to give a few odds to interest a Sam Snead or a Ben Hogan in such a proposition, as the chances of such a man winning would be much greater than his own.

The danger in the situation lies in the possibility a player who had such an arrangement with several other players, and found himself in danger of winning because of an unexpected hot streak, being tempted to blow a few shots so he would finish a good, respectable second. Winning would cost him too much.

There is no rule against such a mutual-benefit arrangement, of course, and we can't see any harm in it. There also is something of a safety valve to keep a player with several deals with other individuals honest so he will do his best at all times. If he never wins, after awhile he will run out of customers, as nobody will deal with him.

Roebuck, Hodges
Lead Dodgers
To 7-6 Victory

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stout relief pitching by Ed Roebuck and lusty hitting by Gil Hodges featured Brooklyn's 7-6 victory over the New York Giants Wednesday as the Dodgers snapped their three-game losing streak.

Roebuck stopped the Giants cold after they had scored five runs in the seventh inning to shave the Dodgers' lead to one run.

The righthander permitted only one hit, to help Danny McDevitt register his sixth victory against one defeat.

Hodges drove in three runs with a single and a two-run homer.

The Dodgers collected 14 hits off three pitchers, nine of them given up by starter Ray Crone, who suffered his seventh defeat. He has won five.

JERSEY FARMERS REPORT HOPPERS IN LARGE NUMBERS

JERSEYVILLE — Jersey county farmers report grasshoppers in large numbers in some areas with the insects moving from falling pasture lands at this season of the year into the adjacent corn and soybean fields.

It was recommended early in the grasshopper season to spray areas where the young insects appeared in large numbers. This was done in numerous cases, but torrential rains following the spraying apparently did away with the effect of the spray poison and permitted the insects to continue to feed in safety.

A few fields of corn are showing the effects of the grasshopper prevalence around the outside rows of the cornfields.

Charge St. Louis Man With Murder In Death Of Mrs. Betty McGee

CARROLLTON — Clifford Arnold Melton, a 24 year old St. Louis laborer, was charged with murder in a warrant issued Wednesday morning in the court of Justice of the Peace W. T. Jung at Carrollton, according to Greene County State's Attorney Keith Hubbard.

The complaint signed by Sheriff Fred Ballard charges Melton with the murder of Mrs. Betty Lee McGee, 28-year old Jacksonville woman whose body was found at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning in the middle of Alternate Route 67, between Carrollton and White Hall in the High Street neighborhood.

According to Greene county authorities the body of Mrs. McGee was still warm when discovered by Robert Hutton a farmer residing nearby.

Melton was taken into custody by St. Louis police Tuesday and questioned about the death of Mrs. McGee.

When notified of the arrest of Melton, State's Attorney Keith Hubbard, Assistant State's Attorney L. A. Mehrhoff, Coroner William H. Wolfe and Deputy Sheriff Leonard Stone went to St. Louis to assist in questioning of the suspect.

Denies Knowing Woman — Greene county officers and the St. Louis police said that Melton denied knowing Mrs. McGee or anything about her death.

He did, however, tell of meeting a woman Sunday in an American Legion Hall near Carrollton, drinking with her and finally leaving together, the officers said.

The officials quoted Melton as saying he and the woman got into his car and he let her out near Carrollton but couldn't identify her.

When Mrs. McGee's body was found part of her underclothing was discovered 100 feet from the body and her dress was slightly torn.

The body was taken to Jacksonville where an autopsy was performed by Dr. Hugh McKinley, pathologist at the Jacksonville State Hospital.

The pathologist found that Mrs. McGee died of a severe brain hemorrhage with no signs of external injury.

State's Attorney Hubbard said that Melton refused to sign extradition papers to Illinois.

After the murder warrant was issued at Carrollton, the state's attorney called St. Louis police notifying them to hold Melton.

If Melton still refuses to sign extradition papers the Greene county officers plan to ask Governor William G. Straton to issue extradition papers.

State's Attorney Hubbard said Tuesday that he has at least 10 witnesses who saw Melton with Mrs. McGee at Roodhouse.

Melton made frequent visits to Greene county, Hubbard said.

"I was told, my boss is a nasty man who hates me, that my wife is in love with my best friend. I'm sure I've never been married."

"Many women, I heard, show great interest in me. But I was warned that all of them are after my money. Ha!"

More Than 50 Names On Document; Seek Referendum Nov. 5

A petition bearing signatures of more than 50 Morgan county citizens was filed at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning with the Morgan county board of commissioners, asking that the question of township government be submitted to a referendum at the next general election, Nov. 5.

The petition, which has been in circulation several weeks, was handed to Ralph Heaton, chairman, and Hobart Rigg, board member, by Joe Boyle, 1440 South Main street, a Jacksonville business man.

The commissioners called in State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan, who prepared a receipt for Boyle, showing that the petition had been filed.

Morgan county has been under commission form of government since its organization after separation from Cass county.

Text of Petition

The petition reads:

"To Ralph Heaton, Hobart Rigg, and A. Paul Johnson, County Board of County Commissioners in and for the County of Morgan in the State of Illinois, Court House, Jacksonville, Illinois:

"We, the undersigned, being and constituting registered voters and electors of the county of Morgan in the State of Illinois, do hereby petition you and each of you, Ralph Heaton, Hobart Rigg and A. Paul Johnson, being members of the County Board of Commissioners in and for the County of Morgan in the State of Illinois, to submit to the voters or electors of Morgan county, Illinois, at the general election to be held in Morgan county, Illinois, on Tuesday, November 5, 1957, the question of township organization for Morgan county, Illinois, in accordance with Article I, Section 1, Chapter 139, revised statutes of the State of Illinois, Illinois State Bar Association Edition of 1955."

This was the second time that a petition asking a referendum on township form of government has been filed with the Morgan county board. In 1936 such a document was filed, after which former State's Attorney Albert W. Hall ruled that it did not conform with provisions of Section 1, Chapter 139, revised statutes of the State of Illinois, Illinois State Bar Association Edition of 1955."

Boyle was asked by a reporter whether he was acting as an individual or as representative of an organization.

"I am acting as an individual," he replied, "and feel that in presenting this petition I represent the wishes of a large number of people who would like to see the matter brought to a vote."

Boyle said "dissatisfaction" of "a large number of people" in the present tax structure, under which real estate and commercial and industrial personal property is being reappraised, was one of the reasons responsible for circulating the petition.

Commissioners Heaton and Rigg said they would confer with State's Attorney Ryan about the petition. Both State's Attorney Ryan and Assistant State's Attorney W. T. Wilson examined the petition, but said they would study it and the statutes before advising the county board as to future action.

Morgan county consists of 18 townships. Under a township form of government each township would be represented by a supervisor, representing an area of about four square miles.

Boyle told a reporter that most of the counties in Illinois are under township form of government, and that he believes "a township form of government is closer to the people."
